F. S. BREEN,
Editor.

F. S. Breen of forest service fame, is now editor and publisher of the Coconino Sun.—Courier.

Some one has threatened to assassinate Senator Bailey of Texas. We haven't heard why, but suppose it is the only way a democrat can be defeated in Texas.

The U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry has discovered that Egyptian cotton will grow in Arizona. Of course it will, anything will grow here, even suspicion.

Now that Illinois Republicans have spoken out emphatically for Speaker Cannon, it will no longer be accurate to say that speaker Cannon's boom resembles one of those noiseless guns we have lately been hearing about.—Republican.

The Kaiser draws a modest salary now of four million per year. Since he has a large family and cost of living is higher, he has had to economize by letting seventeen chauffeurs, nineteen pastry cooks and a small army of butlers go. Ah, how hard times do pinch us all.

At the primaries last Saturday the non-instructions of the territory seem to have the best of it all along the line. Maricopa county is mixed but mainly in favor of instructions, the other big counties are against it. Up north there are only two county in favor of instructions—Apache and Majave.

Thomas Watson, of Georgia, one of the old war horses of the pop party, has again been nominated for president on the populist ticket and will have the honor of going down to defeat in company with Samuel W. Williams, the nominee for vice president. They were placed in nomination at St. Louis April 3rd.

Eugene Brady O'Neill of Phoenix is a candidate for Mark Smith's job as Delegate to Congress and is out with a large war-club to swat Marcus one on his political solar plexus if the democrats will hold up his hands until he can bring the club down. E. E. Ellinwood is also mentioned as a possibility. If E. E. makes up his mind to make the race he will have a lot of fellows up north here pulling rocks out of his road to give him a clear right-of-way.

Several have asked if the Sun office would continue to do job printing. We wish to say that we have one of the best equipped job offices in the southwest, and will be up-to-date on anything in that line the public may have to do. If we happen to be short of anything it will be supplied immediately. We have played the printing game from type-lice to lead poisoning.

There is much talk at present among the elect of the Republicans as to who will be the next candidate on that ticket for delegate to congress. Among the many names prominently mentioned are:

Ex-Gov. N. O. Murphy, Ex-Secretary Nichols, R. E. Morrison of Prescott; E. S. Clark and J. W. Milnes of Prescott; Judge William Herring, and Manager Powell of the C. & A. mines at Bisbee. It is early in the game as yet, but any one in the list would be good.

In the coming city election in Flagstaff there should be no "saloon element," no "church element," no poor or rich element, but a whole lot of the element of hustle and good will to make the town better, larger and more prosperous. The more talk there is about "elements" the more trouble you have and the less is accomplished. When a town the size of Flagstaff is divided up into elements or fractions, each fraction is mighty small potatoes and the town runs to seed.

New Mexico believes in housing her army of state troops and has provided four armories at different points in that territory. The cost of each of these is to be $10,000. In Arizona, where the real live scrappers live they are passed up like a white chip and allowed to do the best they can for themselves. There is no better equipped regiment in the business than Arizona's, nor a bunch of men who would be more willing to go to the front on short notice, and as usual, would shove the front further ahead unless they were hog-tied.

The Coconino Sun will appear tomorrow under the editorship of Fred S. Breen, who purchased the plant last week. Mr. Breen is an old horse in the harness and will no doubt make the Sun sparkle with bright, spicy and newsy items. We wish the new editor success and hope he will sail smoothly through the journalistic sea without a breaker. May he never encounter the ills and besettings of the common newspaper man but waft his way to fields of untold wealth, and may he walk in the path of peace to all men. Here's success, Brother Breen, and we extend to you a hearty welcome to the newspaper fraternity.—Gem.

Thank you, brother.

What the Boys Say

F. S. Breen, formerly supervisor of the Northern Arizona forest reserve, is now editor and proprietor of the Coconino Sun. The Sun was part of the estate of the late C. M. Funston and was bought in a short time ago by Mr. Breen, who intends to make it one of the liveliest weeklies in the territory, and a daily just as soon as Flagstaff requires it. Mr. Breen is widely known throughout Arizona and was for many years in the forestry service. A short time ago he resigned his position with Uncle Sam to enter the journalistic field.

Mr. Breen is an excellent newspaper man, with the business judgment and talent necessary to make a weekly in a growing city grow with the town. He is also an excellent writer, who can dress up a news article or an editorial utterance with equal felicity.

The Sun under Mr. Breen's leadership will undoubtedly become an important factor for good in the republican party of Arizona. The new owner is a republican, but not what is known as a "hide-bound party" man. He reserves the right to support opposition candidate or policies if the Grand Old Party ever strays off into the wrong pasture, which, however, it will never do.—Phoenix Gazette.
